Physician Scientist-Program of the Heidelberg Faculty of Medicine

Within the framework of the Physician Scientist-Program, the Heidelberg Faculty of Medicine awards up to 6 postdoctoral research fellowships with a protected research period for up to 2 years.

The aim of the Physician Scientist-Program is to promote research activities of young clinicians at an institution of the Heidelberg Faculty of Medicine and thus strengthening both: the basic as well as the clinical research. The program aims at outstanding young physicians with an above-average commitment to science, who obtained their doctorate within the last three years.

New: Various funding options are possible, which allow both: full as well as partial exemption from clinical tasks for research activities. The total duration of the program is three years. The Heidelberg Faculty of Medicine finances protected research periods for a maximum of two years in total. Another year's funding of clinical training will be provided by the host hospital or institute.
