

MEDIZINISCHE FAKULTÄT HEIDELBERG

Career Development Programm of the Medical Faculty of Heidelberg

Handout: Evaluation Criteria

Applications for a fellowship in one of the programs belonging to the Career Development Program of the Medical Faculty of Heidelberg are each evaluated by their own respective interdisciplinary selection committee.

Major Criteria for the evaluation include (but are not limited to):

- the applicant's previous scientific achievements,
- the convincing motivation and presentation of professional career goals,
- the documented preparatory work for the planned project
- the innovative impact of the project
- the quality of the research project and the application
- grants and awards already received as well as third-party funding raised by the applicant

The selection committee reserves the right to consider family and social aspect in addition to the above listed criteria when assessing applications for funding in the Medical Faculty's Career Development Program.

This is merely a listing, not a ranking, of the relevant evaluation criteria.
